Recognizing accomplishments is an important part of encouraging Toastmasters in the East End Orators. We celebrate educational and leadership milestones and annual awards.

Calling all East End Orators to start thinking about Annual Awards

Three awards are selected annually by club members in June. We will ask you to select someone for each of the following:

1. Toastmaster of the Year – When considering a recipient, think of these traits: enthusiasm, dedication, attendance, club officer service, assistance to other members, completing educational goals, speech contest participation, etc.
2. Most Inspirational Toastmaster – Consider someone who inspires you or our club to greater achievements as Toastmasters.
3. Most Improved Toastmaster – Think of someone who has improved the most during the period from July 2018 to June 2019.

Leadership: Not What You Think

Leaders come in many forms and Toastmasters provides many opportunities to practice leadership. Recently, Lisa Rawson shared some insights about the qualities of leaders. In one study when leaders were asked what four qualities they feel are important in a leader, they list purpose, wisdom, humor and humility. Interestingly, according to Strengths Based Leadership from Gallup, those being led think that the top four qualities are trust, compassion, stability, and hope. This would suggest that leaders need to check in with the team to make sure they are working toward the same goals in the same manner. What qualities do you look for in a leader?

Talk Up Toastmasters Campaign

Members are the life-blood of the club. Here are three new members with VP Membership, Carol Loeffler. Welcome Molly Baker, Angelica Perez, and Marianne Hernandez. We look forward to sharing your accomplishments.
